/'fu:bar/

– a multimedia-based, glitch-prone ~~participatory~~ collaborative and participatory community event, focused on discovering and displaying both – semantic and technical errors, in the very process of creating cross-disciplinary new media art.

The central thematic axis of the third, 2017 edition is dissecting 'organic tactics' of remix-oriented glitch art, articulated in the context of *sharing* and source reinterpretation, in order to explore/understand/show the potentials and ethos of commons-based asynchronous collaborative 'electrical' art ecosystems.

The event is composed of discursive units (artist talks and lectures), audio(visual) artist performances, an open/free workshop, a residential programme and a Digital Media glitch-bound visual arts exhibition complemented by on-topic authors' essays. The visual arts exhibition encloses a wide array of authors' – 80+ artists', hackers' and experimentators' – diverse conceptual & methodological netiquettes. The shown outputs'-artworks' (1) aesthetical (2) technical (3) ideological layers help track and demystify the processes of prochronistic – multifaceted collaborative artistic practices based on reinterpreting ▪ shared ▪ found ▪ borrowed ▪ appropriated ▪ (re)adapted ▪ shifted authorships, all of which (can) result in reimagined new media objects, created via contemporary métier of re/&de-constructing digital matter.
